The Great Colleges to Work For® program is one of the largest and most respected workplace recognition programs in the country. Now in its seventeenth year, it recognizes the colleges that get top ratings from their employees regarding workplace practices and policies. Please feel free to cite the below information in announcing your institution's recognition in the program.

Great Colleges to Work For® Program Methodology

The Great Colleges to Work For® program includes a two-part assessment process: the ModernThink Higher Education Insight Survey© administered to faculty, administrators, exempt professional and non-exempt staff, as well as adjuncts at two-year colleges, and the ModernThink Higher Education Institution Questionnaire® (IQ), which captures employment data and workplace policies and practices from each institution. Recognition analysis for the Great Colleges to Work For program is conducted by ModernThink, an organizational development firm with particular survey and “Best Place to Work” expertise. The principal factor in deciding whether an institution receives recognition is the feedback from employees collected from the ModernThink Higher Education Insight Survey®, assuming a sufficient response rate. Given the wide range of faculty/staff populations at participating institutions, there is no minimum response rate threshold that institutions are required to achieve to be eligible for recognition. However, in analyzing the data we do review confidence levels to ensure statistical significance. The institutional policies and practices information collected through the ModernThink IQ provides supplemental insight to the employee survey and is reviewed and analyzed both for completeness and content.

Program Summary

- 216 institutions participated in 2024, including 139 four-year institutions and 77 two-year institutions.
- This represents an 11% increase in participants since 2023.
- 75 institutions are recognized as a 2024 Great College to Work For, including 53 four-year institutions and 22 two-year institutions.
- 42 institutions are on the Honor Roll, recognized as stand-outs in their size categories.
- There are 10 recognition categories (see below). Special acknowledgement goes to those schools recognized in multiple categories. Accordingly, Honor Roll recognition goes to the top schools in each 4-year size category and the top schools in each 2-year size category based on the number of times they were honored in the individual recognition areas.
- Recognized institutions will be announced on September 20, 2024 at GreatCollegesList.com, and via a special insert of The Chronicle of Higher Education sent digitally and in print to subscribers.

Recognition Categories

Compensation & Benefits

The perception that one is compensated fairly and that benefits are adequate plays an important role in employees feeling valued and respected. This recognition category is based on survey items capturing satisfaction with the benefits offered and compensation.

Confidence in Senior Leadership

This recognition category is based on the expressed confidence faculty and staff report in the capabilities and credibility of senior leadership. In the Great Colleges to Work For program, “senior leadership” is defined as the most senior members of the institution (e.g., chancellor or president and those who report directly to him/her).

Diversity, Inclusion & Belonging

This recognition category is reserved for program participants who are demonstrating an institutionalized commitment to diversity, as reported through the experiences of faculty and staff. It is based on measures of individual experiences of inclusion and belonging, as well as measures of the impact of institutional diversity policies and procedures at the individual level.

Faculty Experience (Only Faculty and Adjunct Faculty Considered)

Faculty have a unique role in the life of a university and there are some elements of their specific employment experience – the support for advancement and promotion opportunities and the perceived balance of teaching, service and research, for example – that are uniquely viewed through the faculty lens. This recognition category is based on the faculty responses to the survey items addressing these topics.

Faculty & Staff Well-being

With roots in work/life balance and wellness models, this recognition category is based on the impact of one’s employment experience on their well-being (e.g., the opportunity to do meaningful work, the support for work/life balance and the experience of a safe working environment).

Job Satisfaction & Support

This recognition category is based on satisfaction with job fit, autonomy and resources. High degrees of job satisfaction are essential to an engaged workforce.

Mission & Pride

Understanding an institution’s mission and how one’s job impacts that mission are considered primary drivers to faculty/staff engagement. In addition to mission understanding, this category is based on survey items that provide insight into the level of pride in being associated with the institution and the willingness to recommend the institution as an employer.

Professional Development

Support for faculty/staff professional development is critical both in terms of building organizational capacity and supporting individual development needs. This recognition category is based on survey items related to onboarding processes, professional development opportunities, and support for career development.

Shared Governance (Only Faculty and Adjunct Faculty Considered)

The concept of shared governance is one of the most widely valued and deeply respected traditions within higher education. For many Faculty, it is a core part of their experience. Consequently, this recognition category is based on Faculty responses to the survey items on collaborative governance processes and decision-making. We also include the responses of Adjunct Faculty respondents from two-year institutions.

Supervisor/Department Chair Effectiveness

It is widely regarded that the experience of one's immediate supervisor is among the most important factors influencing whether an employee is truly engaged. This recognition category is based on the survey items providing insight into critical managerial competencies such as providing clear direction and constructive feedback and ensuring effective communication and equitable treatment.

Quotes from Richard K. Boyer, Chief Culture Strategist at ModernThink

“There can be no doubt the stresses and challenges facing higher education today are collectively unprecedented. And it seems as if there's some new threat emerging on a weekly basis. But in this moment, in the 2024 Great Colleges to Work For awardees, we have examples of institutions that have navigated these tumultuous times holding true to their missions and values and never losing sight of the importance of their people.”

“If you're seeking inspiration, look no further than the 2024 Great Colleges to Work For Honor Roll institutions. Their commitment to the quality of the workplace experience for of their faculty and staff has been steadfast and the spirit of resilience they've cultivated brings the members of these institutions together in ways that inspire confidence, community, and optimism.”

“As we emerge from the trauma of the last four years there's been a lot of talk (and action!) around the well-being of faculty, staff, and students. In the face of rising levels of burnout and mental health concerns, that focus on the individual members of our community has been critical. The 2024 Great Colleges participants have brought similar intentions to the well-being of the institution, not just it's individual members. Their commitment to workplace quality and their stewardship of culture positions them well to navigate the continuing challenges higher education faces today.”

Sample Press Release

THIS INFORMATION IS UNDER EMBARGO UNTIL: *Friday, September 20, 2024 – 9am Eastern Time

[Institution Name Here] named a “2024 Great College to Work For”
This honor puts [Institution Name] in elite company.

[Institution Name] is one of the best colleges in the nation to work for, according to the Great Colleges to Work For® program.

The results, released today [Recognized institutions will be announced on September 20, 2024 at GreatCollegesList.com, and via a special insert of The Chronicle of Higher Education sent digitally and in print to subscribers.] in a special insert of The Chronicle of Higher Education, are based on a survey of 216 colleges and universities. In all, 75 of those institutions achieved “Great College to Work For” recognition for specific best practices and policies. Results are reported for small, medium, and large institutions, with [Institution Name] included among the [large universities with 10,000 or more students] [medium universities with 3,000 to 9,999 students] [small universities with 500 to 2,999 students].

[Institution Name] won honors in [#] categories this year:

- * Professional Development
- * Faculty Experience
- * Confidence in Senior Leadership
- * Etc.

[Institution Name] was also named to the Great Colleges Honor Roll, a status granted to only 42 colleges each year who are highlighted most across the recognition categories.

“This is a very satisfying affirmation of [Institution Name], but our real goal is not recognition – it’s being a community that values the needs and contributions of every individual. In that sense everyone at [Institution Name] helps to make this a great place to work,” said [Institution Name]’s President/Chancellor [President/Chancellor Name].

The survey results are based on a two-part assessment process: an institution questionnaire that captures employment data and workplace policies from each institution, and a survey administered to faculty, administrators, and professional support staff. The primary factor in deciding whether an institution received recognition was the employee feedback.

The Great Colleges to Work For® program is one of the largest and most respected workplace-recognition programs in the country.
